Report from Parvin Gottsch

Going to the Early Childhood Conference at Chadron State College was a great opportunity for my self, as it was the first one I have attended. I came back with a lot more information to use and share and at the same time the focus was on children, such as "every child is sacred and every child is different in their own ways.

I attended two different classes, Celebrating Diversity through Curriculum and Assessment and a Visit to the Child Development Center Laboratory. I also attended the Implementing a Blended Curriculum in the multi-age Environment. I work in this type of environment with different age groups.

I would like to say thank you to CCS for letting me attend these classes.
