STUDENT LED CONFERENCES

We have chosen to have student led conferences at CCS for a couple of reasons. Most importantly, students are the focus of all we do here! We want to continue to emphasize that students are the primary component in our school. We also desire to have students understand that they are equal partners in the educational process. In student led conferences, teachers become facilitators: Students remain the focus.

Students will be communicating their progress, achievements, and goals with you. We are attempting to create a more open dialogue between you and your son or daughter, while continuing to provide you with accurate objective performance information. We are excited about this format and the opportunities it provides for improving student achievement.
